

THE NEW YORK TIMES, SUNDAY, JUNE 29, 1913.

FARM TO SUPPLY LIVE GAME FOR HUNTING PURPOSES

Wood Ducks, Mallards, Partridges and Other Birds Are Being Raised in Big Numbers Near South Carver, Mass., and Being Sent All Over the Country in an Effort to Prevent the Extermination of Wild Game.

Young Rabbits Grease Taking Food from a Keeper's Lips.

In a few years the fields and forests of America will be richer of wild life than they have ever been in the history of the present generation. Wood ducks, mallards, and other waterfowl will be raised in the woods of Massachusetts, near the great Middle town of South Carver, Mass., where, until now, the only other game birds were raised in large numbers. And from the farm they will be sent to all parts of the United States to citizens who have the opportunity and the desire to raise their own game.

Canada Geese.

The young geese are fed in order to keep them fat and healthy. They are especially prepared for the market and are sent to all parts of the United States. The department is successful in showing by the fact that "game birds" are raised out of a ditch of ten eggs. The young geese are fed in order to keep them fat and healthy. They are especially prepared for the market and are sent to all parts of the United States.

Phasant Pen.

The department of agriculture, after the preservation of wild game, will be the most important part of the work of the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination. The department of agriculture is successful in showing by the fact that "game birds" are raised out of a ditch of ten eggs.

To preserve and propagate game birds, the department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

Black Duck Dropping in Water After a Flight.

The black duck is one of the most valuable game birds. It is raised in large numbers on the game farm. The department of agriculture is successful in showing by the fact that "game birds" are raised out of a ditch of ten eggs.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The game farm near South Carver, Mass., is the only one of its kind in the United States. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The game farm near South Carver, Mass., is the only one of its kind in the United States. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The game farm near South Carver, Mass., is the only one of its kind in the United States. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The department of agriculture has established a game farm near South Carver, Mass. The farm is owned and operated by the United States government. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

The game farm near South Carver, Mass., is the only one of its kind in the United States. It is the duty of the government to protect the wild game of the United States, and to prevent its extermination.

THE BREAKERS

Crin comes an' wrings about the sea;
And the fishermen's children are in fear.
And the mother dreams of a lonely
day.
How it happened,
Overboard I pulled up a line and when I saw the other end, I saw a man's head.
The man's head was in the water.
The man's head was in the water.
The man's head was in the water.